NAUTA YACHTS
ANNOUNCES PROJECT
MOONFLOWER

“Innovative design, lots of open-air space, close contact with the water, light-filled and airy interiors, flexible layout and furniture solutions. These were the ‘must have’ features requested by the Owner that drove the exterior styling, general arrangement and interior design.” says Mario Pedol, co-founder of Nauta Yachts and all-round yacht design legend. Nauta has created a vast array of craft, from the 37-foot Maori, to the world’s longest yacht, the 188-metre Azzam, so they know a thing or two about innovative design. Project Moonflower is no exception, with the 70-metre superyacht featuring a multiple fold-down platformed beach club, a Nemo window and an infinity nest on the Owner’s deck. Developed for an experienced owner, Moonflower will be built in Italy for delivery in 2021/2022. www.nautayachts.com
